Not qualifying endowment funds.*

TYPES OF FUNDS

DESIGNATED AND ORGANIZATIONAL FUNDS

Benefit the operations of a specific charitable organization or public entity* in perpetuity.

DONOR-ADVISED FUNDS: ENDOWED AND FLEXIBLE

Recommend annual distributions to the charitable organizations and public entities* you care most about.

FIELD OF INTEREST FUNDS

Choose a specific field of interest to support, such as education, human rights, or the arts. Needs within the area are evaluated by the Foundation and attended to in the name of the fund.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS

Provide students with educational dollars according to specific criteria, such as field of study, financial need, or geographic area.

UNRESTRICTED FUNDS

Permit the Community Foundation the greatest flexibility in responding to present and future charitable needs within our region. Donors rely on our expertise to identify the most impactful uses for the fund.

Examples of charitable organizations and public entities include, but are not limited to, 501(c)(3) nonprofit entities; civic institutions, such as libraries, city governments, police and fire departments, and schools; and places of worship.*

MAKE AN IMPACT

Charitable giving makes a difference. It helps those who are struggling with illness or economic hardship. It provides shelters with beds, libraries with technology, and parks with accessible playgrounds. With over 130 funds, the Foundation is a flexible vehicle to make a gift supporting what is most important to you and your loved ones.

Online gifts can be made at gofoundation.org/give. Mailed contributions can be made payable to the Community Foundation with the fund of choice noted on the memo line and mailed to:

Community Foundation of Grand Forks, East Grand Forks & Region
620 DeMers Avenue
Grand Forks, ND 58201

Donations are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by law and may be eligible for the 40% ND Endowment Tax Credit. For online donations, standard credit card fees apply.

RECURRING

Automatically have gifts deducted from your debit or credit card through our secure giving website. You choose the amount and the duration of your giving. Donations can be started or stopped at any time.

MATCHED

Easily double your gift if you or your spouse's employer participates in a matching gift program. Contact your human resources department for more information or email the Foundation with questions.

TRIBUTE

Make donations to any fund at the Foundation in honor or memory of someone special. We will notify the honoree or the family of those memorialized through your charitable remembrance.

STOCK

Donate gifts of appreciated securities to the Foundation and you may be eligible for a charitable income tax deduction for the full fair market value of the stock, while avoiding the capital gains tax. Contact our office for transfer instructions.

IRA

Donors age 70 1/2 or older can transfer up to $100,000 annually from their IRA directly to funds at the Community Foundation without being subject to income taxes on the distribution. Contact your IRA administrator for more information.

PLANNED

Bequests, charitable gift annuities, charitable trusts, endowments and beneficiary designations of life insurance or retirement plan assets are simple yet impactful ways you can leave a legacy while shaping the future of the region.

GRANT & SCHOLAR PROGRAMS

For over two decades, the Community Foundation has been making a significant impact in the lives of area residents through our grantmaking processes. Arts and culture, green spaces, human rights, economic stability for women, community engagement opportunities, and leadership development are just a few of the ways that the Community Foundation works to improve quality of life across our region.

Eligible nonprofits, public entities, and students can apply for funding from a growing number of funds held at the Community Foundation.

A YEAR IN REVIEW

HEALING CONNECTIONS

THE POWERFUL IMPACT OF GRANTS ON LOCAL NONPROFITS

By Revey Hertzler

For over 20 years, the Community Foundation has proudly overseen various grant cycles to bolster nonprofits in the area.

The Arts Regrant Program, for example, has been an invaluable opportunity for many. With funds provided by the City of Grand Forks and the National Endowment for the Arts, the program supports the growth and success of arts and culture organizations and secures their vital role in the community. In 2022, the Foundation distributed the Arts Regrant pot of nearly $260,000 among 14 nonprofits. These funds have proven more impactful than ever as many award recipients continue to recover from the financial and logistical crisis caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Among last year's recipients was Arts for Vets, a young nonprofit facilitating the creative expression of military veterans. "We started at my kitchen table in late 2015," said Kim Wilson, Founder and Executive Director. By 2019, Wilson and other artists had secured a lease for a location large enough to house their quickly growing "nomadic tribe" of members.

Wilson didn't let the pandemic, which hit the U.S. in early 2020, ruin her vision. "We did art and grocery drops, bought iPads and phones for shut-ins, and paid for wireless and internet services [for some members] so people could stay connected." By late 2021, the nonprofit launched two substantial art shows. With the help of the Arts Regrant funding, they would go on to do much more.

Arts for Vets upped its number of participants last year and more than doubled their audience attendance. "In 2021 we had 51 participants in our classes, and shows reaching an audience of 4,495 people," said Wilson. "In 2022 those numbers jumped immensely: our participants increased to 219, [with shows] reaching an audience of 12,601!"

The welcomed growth resulted in a need for more space. Thanks to their 2022 award, Arts for Vets now has two locations for year-round shows and exhibits. "We expanded our gallery at 215 N 3rd from 1,000 to 4,000 square feet in order to accommodate the [increased demand for] our shows, classes, community space, and studios. In 2022 we had several highly praised exhibits, and we also secured a permanent gallery at the University of North Dakota. Through generous collaboration with UND, our Veteran Artists have a permanent rotating show called Creative Forces located in UND's old medical school."

The Arts Regrant funding was applied to more than expanding their grounds. "The award assisted us in meeting every aspect of our mission to provide quality classes, production, and mentoring for people that would either not be able to afford those things or not feel comfortable in a less supportive and less personalized environment."

Wilson went on, "I like to say, 'This group can knit a sweater out of lint if we have to.' But we had a very limited income last year due to change over of board members and not yet having our 501(c)(3) status. The [grant] funding helped us to keep going."

"Though some of the topics for veterans can be tough, they feel completely supported in exploring their thoughts and experiences freely."

Art has long been known to offer therapeutic effects to creators and their audiences. With its resident Air Force base, Grand Forks is a prime location for a nonprofit hoping to help veterans express themselves. “We do not edit people’s expressions to serve any purpose but their own, and even though some of the topics for veterans and participants can be tough, they say they feel completely supported in exploring their thoughts and experiences freely,” Wilson provided.

Arts for Vets offers multiple classes, including: Native American Beading, Writing and Poetry, Paint Pour, Art as Small Business, Individual Mentoring for Artists and Musicians, Water Media, Card Making and Collage, Family Art Makers, Frame Shop, Woodworking, Stained Glass, Writing A Great Song, and Spoken Word Presentation. Wilson expects class participation to further increase from 219 to 250 people.

“I have the privilege of witnessing artists evolve on their journeys,” Wilson said. “Arts for Vets is honored to hold that space for them, to uplift them and help them be seen.” Wilson, who herself has always found healing through creative expression, believes Arts for Vets to be an integral part of not just an artist’s life, but the community at large. “We provide an interface between the business community and at-risk populations that elevates, equalizes, and celebrates artists and community offerings in a safe, respectful, and fun atmosphere. The Community Foundation’s support contributes to the stability and consistency of these most-needed collaborations.”

Also among last year’s grant recipients was Golden Link Senior Center, which was awarded through the Community Opportunity Grant Program. This particular program focuses on improving the quality of life in our region. Located in Crookston, MN, the Center itself is a pillar of support in the community. “It’s the only place in Crookston for seniors to gather,” said Tamara Parkin, Grant Chair and Secretary of the Board. “We also open our facility to all nonprofit and service groups to hold meetings and events.” Currently, 16 organizations utilize the Center’s building, making it an even more valuable asset to the community.

In 2022, Golden Link applied specifically for funds to help with their Educational Programming Series, an eight-week course on medical and legal subjects. “It’s essential to keep current on issues we face as we age,” Parkin said. Some of the programming’s covered topics included general nutrition, stroke and heart attack prevention, and medication management. The funding contributed to the acquirement of course materials and the overall success of the series.

The Center’s focus goes beyond education, however. Social support matters just as much as technical learning.

“Having programming on a variety of subjects, such as grief, may, in fact, save someone’s life, or bring people together with the same issues, concerns, or interests.”

“You never know what people are going through in their lives,” said Parkin, who’d bonded with a woman at the Center over the loss of their husbands. “Having programming on a variety of subjects - such as grief - may, in fact, save someone’s life, or bring people together with the same issues, concerns, or interests.”

As with Arts for Vets, Golden Link saw an increase in patrons last year, as well as a record number of programs. Parkin is excited for this growth to continue into 2023. “You are never too old to learn and to play. We already offer so much variety in our programming, from exercise to movies. We have card playing, music and arts programming, patron trips, and coffee time. We have something for everyone.” But, with a growth-centered mission, the Center wants to do even more. The 2022 Community Opportunity grant award paves the way for greater initiatives, such as bringing in medical specialists to directly discuss health issues older adults often face.

“As we age, we tend to forget we still need to live and learn,” Parkin added. “[Ours] is a place for everyone. You can have coffee, eat a meal, relax, enjoy, learn, and socialize. We all need that.”

Golden Link Senior Center was founded in 1985 by three groups in collaboration: Senior Club, Senior People’s Program, and Senior Meals Program.
